2020 FIA WORLD RALLY
CHAMPIONSHIP

ORGANISED BY RALLY SWEDEN AB

68th RUNNING

MICHELIN AND RALLY SWEDEN

Michelin is targeting its 30th Rally Sweden victory
as a WRC round

Rally Sweden is the WRC round Michelin has won the highest number of times

The Alpine/Michelin
of Jean-Luc Thérier came third in Sweden in 1973 when studded tyres were not authorised

In 2008, changes to the regulations resulted in wider Rally Sweden tyres
(15/65-15 instead of 10/65-16)

At 120kph, the studs of Michelin's Rally Sweden tyres strike the ground
16.72 times every seconds

When the car is at a standstill, it sits on approximately 80 studs (between 18 and 20 studs per wheel in contact with the ground)

TYRES MIGHT SUFFER
IF THE CONDITIONS ARE PREDOMINANTLY STONY DIRT

"Rally Sweden is the only round of the WRC that takes place exclusively in wintry conditions with studded tyres. Unfortunately, recent mild weather means there is insufficient ice on the originally planned route, so the organisers have restricted the number of stages that will be run. It could be a complex event for our tyres because they are designed to bite into ice, so they might suffer if the conditions are predominantly stony dirt. The drivers will need to take care of the 384 studs that are inserted into each tyre, but our experienced technicians will be on-hand to provide advice."

MICHELIN'S TYRES FOR RALLY SWEDEN

WRC

MICHELIN X-ICE NORTH 3
(15/65-15)

- 384 studs per tyre
- Maximum stud length/weight: 2cm/4g
- The X-Ice North 3's studs protrude by approximately 6.5mm
- Allocation: 28 X-Ice North 3s

WRC2

MICHELIN NA01 (15/65-15)

- 384 studs per tyre
- Maximum stud length/weight: 2cm/4g
- The NA01's studs protrude by approximately 7.5mm
- Allocation: 26 NA01s

54
ENTRIES

TOTAL DISTANCE:

815.09KM

including 171.64km
divided into 11 special stages

MICHELIN FACTOID

In 2017, Michelin won the fastest ever Rally Sweden (average speed: 115.40kph) and the fastest ever stage of the WRC's modern era (137.8kph)

RALLY SWEDEN

Due to a shortage of snow, the format of the 2020 has had to be revised and shortened

Rally Sweden has been cancelled on two occasions: in 1974 (oil crisis) and 1990 (lack of snow)

The original Rally Sweden in 1950 took place in the middle of summer and was known as the Rally to the Midnight Sun

Only 15 non-Swedes have won Rally Sweden since 1950

Stig Blomqvist holds the record for the highest number of Rally Sweden victories (7), podium finishes (16), participations (36) and stage wins (135)

Thanks to the grip provided by the Michelin X-Ice North 3, the WRC cars can reach speeds of 200kph on sheet ice

MICHELIN GREEN GUIDE

The Michelin Green Guide Sweden and Denmark is the ideal companion for exploring Sweden's attractions, from its Viking heritage and Lapland plains, and from its folklore to its more modern aspects, not to mention sights like the northern lights and the midnight sun.
