THE SOFT AND MEDIUM REAR TIRES ARE BOTH COMPETITIVE, WITH DIFFERENT CHARACTERISTICS

Buriram is one of the most demanding circuits on the calendar in terms of thermal constraints. This circuit combines several unfavourable factors: very long straights that heavily load the rear tire, extremely high track temperatures, and asphalt with limited grip that promotes wheelspin during acceleration phases.

In these conditions, managing 'spinning' is crucial. Teams will have to work intensively on bike settings and electronics to limit wheelspin and preserve tire performance over distance. Wear levels are high, but they remain under control, and both grip and consistency are there. The Soft and Medium rear tires are both competitive, with different characteristics, which will give riders real freedom of choice.

The atmosphere at Buriram is always exceptional, with very passionate fans. After the pre-season tests, the teams arrive here well prepared, and I believe we will witness an intense, closely fought race, with riders ready to push hard from the very first round of the season.
